Oil At Lac la Biche?

LAC LA BICHE. — Two wells are to be drilled in the Lac la Biche area. One of the operations is projected for the Owl River area on the north side of Lac la Biche.

Central Leduc Oils, Del Rio Oil Producers and Royalite Oil have joined for exploratory drilling on a 40,000-acre reservation. The first well, Central-Lac la Biche No. 1, will be started immediately.

The location is based on interpretation of an aerial photographic survey which indicated a sizeable structural feature on the reservation. Drilling will test down to and including the Devonian limestone. Maximum depth is expected to be around 3,500 feet. The land is held by Central. Royalite and Del Rio subscribed $25,000 each to the cost of the first well.

To Take Over Implement Agency

LAC LA BICHE.—Doyle Motors, headed by Wilfrid Doyle, announced here they expect to have new Gibson farm machinery within a few weeks. Doyle & Sons, Edmonton, have acquired the agency for Northern Alberta and dealerships are now being appointed.

Village Credit Maintained States Financial Statement

LAC LA BICHE.—The auditor's financial statement for the year 1949 was before the council at the February meeting. It is a satisfaction to the council to note that the village credit is maintained in spite of the high cost of operation and the excessive education tax. With the prospect of a reduced school requisition for the current year some improvements are contemplated.

Following our repeated protest in the matter of education costs a definite promise is received from the Minister of Municipal Affairs that he and his deputy will pay us a visit after the present session of the House, and will be accompanied by the Minister of Education. The departments should thus with first hand knowledge be in a position to apply a remedy to the present intolerable situation.

In the matter of fire protection, the council has improved the equipment by acquiring a truck with a tank of 500 gallons capacity.

The cemetery is now controlled by the village, recently taken over from the different churches. It is the intention as soon as weather permits to improve the existing condition of the grounds, and add to its appearance.

A vote of the property owners will be taken soon to determine the control of the skating rink. At present it is in charge of the Board of Trade who do not intend to continue this feature after the present year. The vote will decide whether the village should take it over and assume complete control, meeting the necessary expense.

The annual meeting of the electors is set for Monday the 14th inst. when an opportunity will be afforded the public to discuss pertinent matters affecting the government of the Village.

Curfew by-law is changed from the hour of 7:45 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. on request of parents to afford the children a fuller skating time.

THE CHRISTENING OF PRINCE CHARLES

The baptism of His Royal Highness Prince Charles of Edinburgh, the infant son of Their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, took place in the White and Gold Music Room of Buckingham Palace. The infant prince was given the names of Charles Philip Arthur George, and the ceremony was conducted by His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury. The service was attended by Their Majesties the King and Queen, members of the Royal Family and a few of their close friends.

These pictures, the first to be seen of the infant price, were taken immediately after the christening ceremony, and show the baby wearing the Royal christening robe of white silk and Honiton lace made for Queen Victoria's children and used since by the Royal Family.

The baby prince is the centre of admiration in this happy family picture after the christening ceremony, where in the arms of his mother he is seen with his father and grandparents.—(Picture circulated December, 1948).

Brother to Visit in Canada

LAC LA BICHE. — Jas. Wolstenholme of Liverpool, Eng., expects to leave for Canada in June to visit his brother Jack Wolstenholme here. Jim is foreman at a box factory in Liverpool.

When it comes to boxing material, Jack doesn't do too badly either. He has made a very fine two-bunker bed for his boys out of old crating and the finished job looks better than the kind you buy in a store.

Window Breakers Pay Fines

LAC LA BICHE. — A pane of glass may not be so expensive to buy in a hardware store, and if you take it home and break it in your own back yard you would not be out more than a few cents.

However, by breaking windows one woman received sentence of $55 or two months in jail and Joe Lavelle was assessed $37 for the same offence.

SPRUCE VALLEY NEWS

SPRUCE VALLEY.—A surprise and farewell party was held for Mr. and Mrs. George Kudrynetski on January 29. The party took place at their home.

Over 20 married couples attended this party. Mrs. Bill Kudrynetski and Mrs. John Pysik served food, while Mr. Kudrynitski and Mr. Pysik served the refreshments. The whole night was spent by eating, drinking and dancing.

Around midnight Mr. Kuch made a short speech. Then Mr. George Kudrynitski made a lovely speech. He expressed his deepest thanks with great emotion to all who came to see him off.

The ladies gave Mrs. Kudrynitski a present. Everyone enjoyed themselves till morning and went home in high spirits.

Gets British Certificate

LAC LA BICHE. — For having carried on two-way radio-telephone conversation with some "ham" operator in at least one British country on each of the five continental areas of the world, Rev. Fr. McGrane has received a certificate entitled "W.B.E." (Worked British Empire).

Fr. McGrane has talked with short-wave operators in New Delhi, India; Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Africa; Barbadoes, B.W.I.; Melbourne, Australia; Christchurch, N.Z.; Malta; Coventry, England and others.

Transferred to Montreal

LAC LA BICHE.—R. R. Howlett, who has been on the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company store here for the past 18 months has been transferred to Montreal. There he will take a special course in the fur department in preparation for managership of a north Arctic post.

E. J. Gall, formerly at Cambridge Bay, and who has spent 20 years in the company's service in the north, is being transferred from Waterways to position of assistant manager at the store here.

RENTALS

By H. J. THOMPSON

The spiral of inflated prices, brought across the border by recent influx of American oil exploration and oil drilling projects, is being exploited by increased rental charges, out of all proportion to actual levels established by Canadian standards of living and price valuations.

The migratory nature of the work of exploration crews, lends itself to this form of exploitation, which is bound to seriously affect the regular Canadian worker tied down to lower wage levels of fixed agricultural production sales.

The bad slump in fur prices to which Lac la Biche business prosperity has been closely associated in the past. Wage earners in timber, fish and other regular business occupations can not compete with these temporary inflated prices.

The tempory nature of the present situation, should not be allowed to supercede our own standards, for future dealing in the matter of rents and other prices. While we welcome this form of prosperity, we should not be stampede into a sense of false high valuations that may be difficult to remove, once the work passes to other regions and our houses are again open to workers in seasonal occupations away from Lac la Biche at the present time.

We must not lose sight of the temporary nature of this new source of revenue, until such time as these exploitation and drilling projects are replaced by actual proved and established oil producing wells.

H. G. YOUNG RETURNS FROM C.C.F. CONFAB

UNIVERSITY NEWS COLUMN

A series of articles on the work of the various departments of the UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA.

1. BACKGROUND AND ORGANIZATION

Not long ago a professor from the University of Alberta travelling in a remote area of the province helped a man from the neighborhood who was having trouble with his car. The man thanked the professor and asked:

"Where do you hail from, anyway"

"From the University," replied the professor, thinking that would answer the question fully.

"The University?" said the other, "Where's that?"

There are probably very few people who do not know that the University of Alberta is located in Edmonton in the southern part of the city, but there are probably a great many who are not aware of what goes to make up the University, what is taught there, what research is carried on there and how it serves the people of the province. Since the provincial University and the people of the province have a close connection with each other and mutual responsibilities, it is important that they should become better acquainted.

The cost of providing University education has risen sharply in the last few years for two main reasons in addition to the general rise in prices. First, there are far more young men and women in attendance than before the war and it is necessary to erect new buildings to accommodate them—this at a time when building costs are the highest they have ever been.

Secondly, the new techniques of science require new equipment which is often very complicated and very expensive. Hence the University is obliged to seek increased financial assistance from the government — i.e. ultimately from the people of the province.

The University, on its part has an increasing responsibility to the people. As our society and its economy become more complex, higher standards are demanded in all branches of professional education. The teacher used to be regarded as fairly well equipped for his work with a high school certificate and a year in normal school. We are now reaching the point where the normal period of advanced training will be four years culminating with the degree of Bachelor of Education. So it is in Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy, Agriculture, Engineering and Law.

The University must meet this need by means of better training for its staff and more elaborate library and laboratory facilities. New courses must be devised to meet new conditions in such faculties as Agriculture, Arts and Science and the rest and new programs outlined for new professional needs. In the past year, for example, the General Faculty Council has outlined new programs for Petroleum Enginering, Irrigation Engineering and Engineering Geology and the Board of Governors has authorized their being given.

The University is a large and complex organization devoted to two basic ends—that of teaching young men and women in order to keep alive the great body of knowledge which forms our cultural heritage, and that of pushing forward the frontiers of knowledge still further to promote a better life for mankind. These two functions are ,in the University, interdependent and inseparable.

The organization of such a great institution seems at first to be very complex, so a few words of explanation may be useful at the start of this series.

The University of Alberta was created by an act of the first session of the first legislature of the province in 1906, but it is now governed under the terms of a new act of 1942. The Lieutenant-Governor as representative of His Majesty the King in right of the province is the Visitor of the University. The position of highest dignity among University officials is that of Chancellor. He is elected by Convocation, is chairman of that body and confers all degrees. He is ex officio a member of the Board of Governors and chairman of the Senate.

The President is the chief executive officer of the University. He is appointed by the government and is ex officio a member of the Board of Governors, of the Senate, and of all Faculty Councils. He presides at General Faculty Council and in other Faculty Councils when present.

The Board of Governors handles all the business affairs of the University including the appointment of all members of the staff of academic rank, handling of the budget and of University property. It comprises the Chancellor, President of the University, the president and Vice-President of the Alumni, the Deputy Minister of Education, the Deputy Provincial Treasurer and a chairman and six members appointed by the government.

The Senate comprises a number of University officials as well as representatives of affiliated colleges and of the public at large. It acts as liaison body between the University and the public and makes recommendations for honorary degrees.

The General Faculty Council attends to all matters of an academic nature. It will be described in more detail next week.

Red Cross Campaign To Raise Funds

With particular emphasis on the health and medical services of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Arthur L. Bishop, chairman of the Red Cross National executive committee, today announced the official opening on Feb. 28 of the society's 1949 national appeal for funds with an objective of $5,000,000.

"This sum is needed for the continuance of the vitally important peacetime work now being undertaken by your Red Cross," said Mr. Bishop. "The society's work in Canada is one of human kindness with citizens of every race and creed working together for a better national health and relief of human suffering."

Mr. Bishop referred particularly to the society's health and medical services. "A great deal has been accomplished in past years to bring modern medical aid within reach of every Canadian but more remains to be done in the future" he said.

"This year the Canadian Red Cross hopes to see the completion of the free national Blood Transfusion Service, already operating in several provinces, so that every Canadian in need may receive the life-giving benefits of blood transfusion therapy without cost. The ultimate operation of this service on a fully national scale will mean the saving of many lives throughout the years.

"Another important Red Cross service is the Outpost Hospital program with 75 hospitals and nursing stations serving frontier communities from coast to coast. Through this service our modern pioneers are given a fighting chance to settle the frontier lands so that we may better utilize the tremendous resources of this country.

"There are other Red Cross services designed for the protection of Canadian lives and the promotion of better health. They include aid to sick and disabled veterans, Junior Red Cross, Crippled Children's Work, Disaster Relief, Medical and Dental Services, Swimming and Water Safety, First Aid, Home Nursing, Sickroom Supply Loan Cupboards, Canadian Red Cross Corps, Emergency Nursing Reserve, Homemakers' Service and Highway First Aid Posts.

"The support of all the people of Canada is asked to make it possible to carry out this peacetime program. The Red Cross is confident that Canadians everywhere will respond to this important appeal, with the same wholehearted generosity they have displayed in past years."

Soil Conservation Everyone's Job

Nature did a good job in creating our soils. In most instances it gave the world large areas of good productive soil and provided all the necessary plant food to promote growth. Nature did more — it selected the crops to grow on the different types of soil. For example, on the low wet muck soils were the cedars; on the heavier clay loam soils, the hardwoods (maples and oaks); and on the sand soils, the pines.

When man disturbs this balance of nature by cutting the timber, or when fire sweeps the area, Nature does not allow the land to stand idle. First the weeds appear, then the berry bushes or scrub, followed by fast-growing trees like poplar. By the time these die, the original trees ar taking possession again, and if the stand is undisturbed long enough it will revert to its original condition.

During such a cycle the fertility is returned to the soil by leaves, fallen limbs and decaying trees, says G. W. Michael, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The humus content, which is very important, is maintained and increased by the decaying organic matter. The humus acts as a sponge or blotting-paper, absorbing large quantities of water in seasons of plenty and releasing it during the dry periods. It changes the physical condition of the soil making it granular, open and loose, allowing the water, air and bacteria to go down into the soil and make it productive.

Over the years, man, in his need to produce annual or short-period crops, has offset Nature's leisurely way of replenishing the soil—but has unfortunately not provided a good enough substitute. Thinking of the soil as permanent, he has wasted much of the reserve plant food by removing from the soils more than he returned. Little thought was given to humus, until today many soils are low in humus content and the physical condition has changed from granular, open, loose soils, capable of holding plenty of moisture, to fine particles that compact, puddle and bake, and prevent the air and bacteria from entering deeply because there is no moisture carrying capacity.

Because of the very nature of these low-humus soils, they cause drifting and erosion as water cannot easily penetrate them, but must run over the surface carrying much of the plant food down to low-lying areas and streams where it is lost.

Soil conservation is one of the big problems facing agriculture the world over. Much can be done by individual farmers by plowing down more cover crop and refuse and by making full use of manures and fertilizers.

PROTEIN IN THE DIET

By RUTH MURRAY
District Home Economist

First let us make sure we know what protein is. The prefix "pro" means first and protein is the first consideration in a diet for building and repairing the cells of our body.

We get protein from meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, nuts, dried peas, and beans. The muscle meats and organs (liver, kidney, heart) also supply valuable quantities of iron. Meats in general are good sources of the B complex. Organs are richer in vitamins than the muscle tissue; liver ranks high in vitamin A. Pork is an especially good contributor of thiamine.

Fish, as well as being an excellent source of protein, contributes iodine, calcium, and in the liver—vitamin D. Because of its short muscle fibres it is easily chewed and digested. Fish is the only protein which is not noticeably toughened by high temperatures. For the best results in cooking protein use low temperatures.

There are several methods of increasing the tenderness of meat:

1. Mechanical. — Meat may be pounded to break the connective tissue and thus increase the tenderness. Finely ground meat produces more juicy meat balls than the more coarsely ground meats.
2. Freezing—increases the tenderness of meat.
3. Aging—increases the tenderness of meat due to enzymatic action.
4. Cooking. — Meat cooked for a longer time in the oven is more tender than meat cooked for a shorter time in water.
5. Acid—in the forms of tomatoes or sour cream is often used with swiss steaks and stews.

The less-tender cuts of meat may be used as pot roasts, swiss steak, braised meat dishes, stews and soups Usually they are cooked in moist heat at fairly low temperatures. Roasting meat uncovered gives better results. The cooking time is longer but the cooking losses are less and the meat is more palatable.

Metal skewers in a roast will conduct the heat through to the centre of the roast and shortens the cooking period.

Canada's Food Rules recommend (daily):

1. One serving of meat, fish, poultry, or meat alternates, such as beans, peas, nuts, eggs, or cheese.
2. Also use eggs and cheese at least three times a week each and liver frequently.

"We farm 2500 acres of irrigated land and some of it is rather badly infested with Johnson Grass and the Seaman Tiller does a good job putting the grass roots on top of the ground and I feel will do a good job mulching after watering for seedbed."

A Kentucky Seaman Tiller dealer and tobacco grower reports: "In 1945 we had a two-acre test plot, one acre prepared by conventional methods and one acre prepared with the Seaman Tiller. Of course, both acres were planted the same day. Results: Seaman-tilled acre yield showed an increase of $144.90 over plowed acre. Cost of preparing Seaman-tilled acre: $4.25. Cost by conventional method was $11.12."

Let us tell you more about the Seaman Tiller and its practical applications to your farm and crop conditions. Available in both power take-off and motorized (gas or diesel) models in a full range of sizes from 36-inch to 72-inch tillage widths.

There are a limited number of SEAMAN TILLERS available. If you want one—order it NOW for earliest possible delivery.

PLAMONDON NEWS

PLAMONDON.—Mr. T. W. Pue, editor and publisher of The Lac la Biche Herald, paid a short visit to Plamondon on Thursday evening and expects to be with us again this coming week.

Mrs. E. Menard spent the week in Edmonton with her daughter, Mrs. A. Gauthier.

Mr. J. R. Ogden, district sales manager for the John Deere Plow company spent the afternoon in Plamondon Thursday.

Miss Attrux, R.N., Phd., of the department of public health, was a visitor to the district this week. Miss Attrux is in Miss Clark's office in Edmonton as assistant superintendent while Miss Clark is working on the health survey for the province. Miss Attrux is a former district nurse and has spent several years in the White Court district.

Miss Attrux spent some time in the Grassland district with Miss Williams, and then several days at Breynat with Miss McIntosh, district nurse there. Due to unforeseen circumstances and road conditions Miss Attrux did not return to Plamondon to hold the meeting with the nurses home committee as had been planned. However your local reporter certainly enjoyed meeting Miss Attrux again and sincerely hopes that she will have a chance to visit us again. Mrs. Jensen was kept busy on calls all during Miss Attrux's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perner Jr., have returned and are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson.

Mrs. Charlie Johnson has returned from Edmonton hospital.

Mr. Ferdinand Plamondon has also returned from Edmonton hospital.

Mr. Thomas Standing spent the week in Edmonton having dental work done.

Miss Laurette Piquette spent the week-end in Plamondon.

The Bells of St. Mary's was the local show over the weekend and certainly drew capacity crowds.

A Valentine dance was held on February 14, in the Community hall. Cliff's orchestra supplied the music.

The Local C.Y.O. will present a play on February 27 in the Community hall. All the news we have on this yet, but from all reports it should be worth your while making a special effort to be there.

Well Plamondon men know now that the women mean what they say! Understand! Yes for those that do not . . . well you see it's like this. All winter the men have been enjoying their card games. Yes — yes — sometimes until the wee hours of the morn, while mothers stay home and baby sit. This night was different. Several of the ladies thought up a real snappy idea. Just to let the men know what it is like to be waiting until the wee hours of the morn for hubby to come home—So this is how it went . . .

A party was held at the home of Mrs. Dewey Plamondon—this being the home with room to put up the most tables to play cards—and quite a number of the local ladies attended. They all report a wonderful card game, a delicious lunch—and what a satisfaction to go home and find hubby and the kiddies all fast asleep. We may be seeing more of these mothers' nights out, and why not?

Plamondon Old-Timer Returns

PLAMONDON. — Mr. Isadore Plamondon with his wife and one son return to visit in Plamondon. Mr. Isadore Plamondon is the oldest son of Mrs. Philip Plamondon, and his wife is a sister of Mrs. Napoleon Gauthier of Plamondon.

Mr. and Mrs. Plamondon and their son Vernon arrived from Vancouver, Wash., a week ago and being the oldest son of Mrs. Philip Plamondon, they have certainly had a lot of visiting to do. All brothers and relatives have entertained for them, and since it is 25 years ago since they met, there has been a lot of reminiscing done. Mr. Plamondon was one of Plamondons that can still remember arriving in Plamondon with his parents about 38 years ago by oxen team from Lacombe, Alta.

Plamondon is still only a hamlet but Mr. Plamondon surely thinks it has grown since he left here.

They will return to their home in Washington, Friday, Feb. 18.

The doll was won by Bill Osadchuk.

The bingo got off to a big start with about 70 at the first sitting. The first cry of bingo came from Mr. A. Proctor who chose an electric table lamp. Mrs. V. Arnfinson was the next lucky one and she chose a copper tea kettle. Miss Dorothy Hall was the third and she picked out a pyrex tea pot for her mother. Some of the others who won bingo were Mrs. Rose Dobson, Mrs. Kelly, Peter Timchuk, Rose Pruden, Louise Ray, Mrs. Shewchuk, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Wolstenholme, Muriel Greer, and Mrs. Ivanko. If your name is not included here, please forgive us.

LEGAL NEWS

LEGAL. — Laurent Champagne was rushed to the hospital last Thursday with a perforated ulcer. He was operated on as soon as he reached Westlock.

Last Wednesday a party was held for Janet Kaene. Despite the cold weather and bad roads a fair group gathered and danced.

Friday night there was a party for Raoul St. Jean and Miss Rita Demers, who are to be married next week. The cold and roads kept quite a few people from attending.

Sunday afternoon Mr. E. Patry was found paralysed in his house. He was taken to the hospital, but his condition has not improved as yet.

Miss Rita Garneau is in the Westlock hospital since Friday.

The Legal Credit Union has recently established a regular banking system. From now on shareholders will be able to issue cheques just as they would with any bank.

Prominent Morinville Citizen Dies

MORINVILLE. — On Friday, Feb. 11, the town of Morinville lost one its most prominent citizens when Mr. Omer St. Germain passed away at the age of 71 years. Mr. St. Germain was born at St .Pie de Guire, Quebec, on September 14, 1877. He was a member of one of Canada's oldest families, his forefathers being among the first French colonists to settle in Quebec.

He received his B.A. degree from the seminary at Three Rivers, Quebec, and graduated from Laval university in 1905 with his Bachelor of Law degree. He was then admitted to the membership in the Alberta Bar Association.

In 1907, Mr. St. Germain came to Morinville, where one year later he married Miss Alice Renault. Their only child, Gerard, is at present a prominent lawyer.

He was elected mayor of Morinville in 1910 and served three five-year terms in that office. He was also a leading figure in the Knights of Columbus lodge.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife, one son and one grandchild, two sisters and one brother.

CORRECTION

The report of last Sunday's game between Morinville and St. John's College should have read: St. John's defeated Morinville 5-2.

One of Morinville's old-timers, Mr. Gabriel Coupal, has left the town to take up residence in the Youville convent at St. Albert.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Pelletier was the latter's sister, Stella, before her return to work in Edmonton, and also Miss Evelyn Peletier, on holidays for a week before resuming her duties at Brooks.

C.Y.O. Rally Held Sunday

MORINVILLE. — Some 150 Morinville and district young people gathered in the dance hall Sunday night for the first social evening sponsored by the newly-formed C.Y.O. Games, novelty dances, songs and a few new dances—new to Morinville, that is—kept the crowd busy and by every appearance, happy. Soft drinks and chocolate bars served to satisfy the party-goers' appetites at lunch time.

Lately so many are sick in the hospitals and at home that one is liable to get mixed up some time. So if you want everything correct, please give the real facts to your local editor.

Due to the road condition we are unable to get news from Villeneuve. Hope there will be some next week.

Letters to the Editor

Hughenden, Alta.

Mr. Editor:

Your commentator on the unusual aurora borealis, does not do it justice.

This spectacle over Hughenden had the appearance of two great wings joined directly overhead, the semblance to partly opened wings was enhanced by the fact that the blood-red streamers had the appearance of the spread feathers of a wing in flight.

It seemed to me that the eastern portion of this show was a reflected replica of the western form. It was early in the evening, 7:00 p.m. and the sun, already set, must have been directly in line with this aurora, shining through the western side, with conditions at higher altitudes probably similar to those which give us the brilliant red sunsets so frequently seen.

No mention is made of the aurora of the following evening, Jan. 26th. This had a most unusual form, streamers of light from all points of the compass ascending to merge together overhead, so that the whole heavens seemed to be like a huge umbrella encircling the earth.

The really brilliant show seems to have been missed entirely. This occurred on Jan. 19th about 10:00 p.m. and was seen in the eastern sky.

It was cold, 40 below zero, air full of powdered snow in suspension, a full moon shining through it from half way up the sky. There was a great ring around the moon, apparently half a mile wide, at about that distance away, looked like a great wheel, for from the moon in the centre there were four flashing blades of scintillating radiance forming a perfect cross, and reaching to the large ring, like four spokes of a wheel.

In addition to this, the north and the south sides of this great ring had each a particularly brilliant moon-dog like a small rainbow on end, from the centre of each there again extended long blades of light that almost seemed to be trying to reach completely across the sky.

During the years in the west we have seen many great shows in the sky, but never have I seen anything to compare with this spectacle. The lines were all distinct, all uniform, the rainbow coloring so vivid, and the blades of light such as might be compared to the sun shining upon a polished steel shaft.

The whole eastern segment of the sky was taken up, the lower edge of the great ring appearing to rest upon the horizon.

I wonder if anyone else, other than the members of my household saw this?

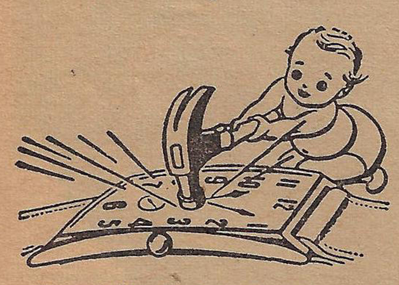

Yours truly,
VICTOR T. J. TWIGG.

Letters to Editor

February 4, 1949.

Dear Sir:

The Red Cross National Appeal for funds this year will again take place in March.

And once more we ask the co-operation of all Canadian publishers in promoting the support of donated advertising from public-spirited business and industrial leaders.

Supplementing the national advertising, these "sponsored" advertisements are considered highly important, and a goodly share of each campaign's success is attributed to their assistance.

The enclosed folder of prepared advertisements has been especially designed to help you more easily obtain this type of advertising. Should you need extra copies of the folder, please write us and we will forward them by return mail.

The splendid co-operation of Canadian publishers in this regard will be, as always, very greatly appreciated.

Yours very truly,
Advertising Committee,
James Ferres.

HIGHEST CITY

Jaichan, Tibet, at 15,870 feet above sea level, is the highest city in the world.

CLAWS DIFFERENT

The two big front claws of the lobster are different. The left one, bigger and heavier, is the grinder and is thick and blunt. The right or cutting claw is slender and tapers to a point.

145 MILES CONDUIT

Calgary laid out an underground wiring system for its down-town section 25 years ago and now has 145 miles of conduit with 62 miles of cable installed.

THREE HIGHEST FALLS

South America has the three highest waterfalls in the world —the Angel Falls in Venezuela 3,000 feet high; and the Kukenaam and Roraima Falls, both in British Guiana and both 2,000 ft. high. The water at Niagara drops only 167 feet.

Two New Varieties Rustless Currants

Three years' patient propagation and cultivation culminated in 1948 at the Horticulture Division, Experimental Farms Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, with the naming of two rustless varieties of black currant bushes.

Introduced in 1945 as Ottawa No. 381 and Ottawa No. 393, the varieties have been called "Crusader" and "Coronet" respectively. A cross between the ordinary black currant and a plant of the Siberian species, they have been grown in all parts of Canada and England and nowhere has rust been found on them. Controlled inoculation tests carried out in the New England States proved them immune to rust.

Rust is one of the most important diseases of the black currant. It is difficult to control and since it spreads from currants to white pine trees it makes black currants a menace wherever white pine is grown as a commercial crop.

The yielding ability of Crusader and Coronet appears to be well established. They were about even in yield trials at Ottawa and they scored up well in a test against four standard varieties.

Crusader and Coronet are much more vigorous in growth than most varieties and a planting area of at least six by eight feet is recommended for each bush. The fruit of both varieties is very large. Crusader bears long bunches of 10 to 12 berries. Coronet's bunches are shorter and carry about eight berries. But both varieties ripen fairly evenly and hang on well when ripe so that most of the fruit may be harvested at one picking.

Both varieties are high in protein and vitamin "C" content, have good flavor and make excellent jams and jellies.

Iodine in Salt Is Easily Lost

Study by scientists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture shows that iodine in salt can be easily lost. They found, for instance, that all the iodine in salt blocks had disappeared in two months after exposure in pasture, and that there was no chemical method of preventing this loss. The answer is to only put out at a time, as much iodized salt as the animals will lick up in a few days.

When fed in the stall, salt loses its iodine less rapidly, but no more than can be consumed in two months should be used at a time.

Iodized rock salt will keep well for about nine months if stored in a dry place in its original container. Loose salt containing iodine will remain stable up to 15 months if kept in tightly closed glass jars.

New Branding For Brucellosis, T.B.

To facilitae indentification, in the marketing of cattle which have reacted to either the blood test for Brucellosis (Bang's Disease) or the Tuberculin test for Tuberculosis, the Veterinary Director General, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Dr. T. Childs, has announced a change in the regulations governing the branding of such cattle.

The new order, effective Jan. 3, 1949, requires that all cattle which have reacted to the Brucellosis test shall be branded with a "B" on the right hand cheek, the brand to be three and one-quarter inches in height by two and one-half inches in width. Cattle which have reacted to the Tuberculin test are required to carry a "T" brand on the left cheek with the height set at two and one-half inches and the same length for the bar on the "T".

Formerly the letter "B" was tattooed in the right ear for Brucellosis and the letter "T" was punched, also in the right ear

All cattle which have reacted to either tests mentioned, Dr. Childs reminded, when being disposed of, must pass through an abattoir at which the Dominion Department of Agriculture, through the Health of Animals Division, maintains a recognized inspection service,

Cattle which have reacted to the blood test for Brucellosis may, under special circumstances, be disposed of other than to an inspected abattoir, when the animal is not to be slaughtered.

Our Farmers Are Becoming Soil Conservationists

By J. M. FONTAINE
District Agriculturist

It is most gratifying to note our farm people's reaction to the daily warning of our soil scientists, economists and agronomists.

In agriculture, like in any other profession, we find wide-awake people. We have farmers who are always inquisitive of any new discovery in the fields of plant breeding, feeding experiments, weed control, trials and soil conservation methods.

For the last three years we have endeavored to convince our farmers of the great economic importance of gradually replacing the summerfallow with forage crops for soil conservation, weed control and restoration of fertility to our agricultural land.

The response to our appeal has been so spontaneous that even the most informed, well advised people were inclined to believe that such a rush for forage crop seed was due to a lucrative ready market for said seed. Speculation was credited for such a large acreage going down to forage crops.

I always felt, however, that the practice would serve as a great demonstration. I have reason to believe today that our efforts were justified. Enough acreage has been seeded to forage crops in my district, to convince the most sceptic of its possibilities in building our soils, increasing its fertility and competing with the weeds. Foresighted farmers will now adopt this practice as a sound, profitable and permanent one.

Society will always have to contend with the careless, indifferent, irresponsible types of people. Till they have lost the most of their economics accumulated through nature's kindness rather than intelligent management, till their property becomes a liability to the community, nothing more can be done than take pity on them.

On the other hand, the majority of farmers realize the benefit derived from following recommendations of agricultural advisers. The following is a striking example of the attention paid to soil erosion and the efforts of some people to control same. I might add that it is the district agriculturist's reward for his ceaseless recommendations of soil conservation.

"After all those years of grain growing and summerfallowing, I must do something to keep my land at home," said a farmer to me last Tuesday. "I have a whole quarter section which is so badly pulverized that for the last few years the topsoil seems to have disappeared. It is gradually moving away to adjacent farms.

"On the other hand, I have plowed a field, last fall, which had been down to brome grass for a few years. This land was like new breaking, so I am strongly thinking of seeding the eroding land, which is a full quarter, to brome grass. Am I doing the right thing?"

After a lengthy discussion on crop rotation, an order for $600.00 worth of grass and legume seed was left at the office, acompanied with this remark: "I should have done this a long time ago. All the people must become interested in rebuilding the soil. What happens on my farm is taking place all over the country. Our delay proves to be an expensive experience as we cannot farm without soil."

Yes, this farmer's remarks are only loud thinking of the majority of his fellowmen. It is rather unfortunate that we have to talk land reclamation in a district open to agriculture only half a century ago. It must be done, however, if we are to preserve the greatest heritage the province has granted us.

The example of this farmer should be followed by hundreds of others in the same area. Let us practice conservation not to have to enforce reclamation.

Talking Traffic Signals Will Ease Road Problems

The first talking traffic light signal, developed entirely in the United Kingdom, was demonstrated at Hayes, England, the other day. It is an automatic device, operating independently or in conjunction with traffic lights, which gives spoken warnings to pedestrians at road crossings. One typical message given at the demonstration was "Before crossing look right, look left, look right again. Thank you." The apparatus in its compact waterproof housing weighs approximately 30 pounds and is contained in a box fixed to the top of the signal post. It can operate either alone, with a timing device, or synchronized with a normal traffic signal. The new signal does not shout its instructions. It quietly coaxes people across the road or warns them of the need for looking left and right before stepping off the curb.

Fighter's Climb Is Sensational

The United Kingdom jet fighter, the Beryl Meteor, which recently climbed to a height of 7½ miles in 7½ minutes has achieved a feat hitherto unequalled for this type of aircraft. Only rocket-propelled machines like the American Bell X-1 have been able to surpass this latest performance. The Beryl, moreover, is not one of Britain's newest or most powerful turbo jets. Experts believe that with the use of power and still more powerful jet engines United Kingdom fighters will, in fact, be able to equal the climb rate of the Bell rocket plane—with this difference: the Bell has fuel for only 2½ minutes of powerful flight while the jet fighter can fly for several hours.

New Target For Coal Industry

Britain's coal mines will be expected to achieve an output of between 210 and 215 million tons of deep-mined coal this year. Lord Hyndley, chairman of the National Coal Board, announcing the new target recently disclosed also that the Board is aiming at an increase in labor strength to 736,000. The number of workers now on the colliery books is about 726,000 so that taking the wastage at an annual rate of some 65,000, it will need the recruitment of about 75,000 new workers to achieve this net increase of 10,000.

Open A National Memorial Fund For Boys' Clubs

The famous British radio comedian, Tommy Handley, who died recently, is to be commemorated by the National Memorial Fund. This witty jester was not only beloved by millions in Britain but had a wide and appreciative audience among overseas listeners to the British Broadcasting Corporation. Proceeds of the fund are to be devoted to furthering an object Tommy Handley had very much at heart — the work of the National Association of Boys' Clubs, which has a membership throughout Britain of 195,000 boys between the ages of 14 and 18.

Britain's Public Health Laboratory

Britain maintains a special organization for tracing the cause of any epidemic to its original starting point and recommending the appropriate remedies. This is done by the Public Health Laboratory run by the Medical Research Council for the Ministry of Health. It is a comparatively new body which has been working on a permanent basis only since the end of the war. It now has a central headquarters in London, with smaller laboratories in six main towns as well as regional branches in almost every county. At headquarters there is a collection of bacterial cultures relating to practically every known disease.

English Prayer Book 400th Anniversary

The Church of England throughout the world will celebrate, during this year, the 400th anniversary of the publication of the first English prayer book. This is now known as the English Book of Common Prayer which is based on the version first drafted and published during the reign of King Henry VIII's son, Edward VI. The Primate of Britain has appointed a committee to supervise arrangements for these celebrations. It is under the chairmanship of the Dean of Westminster. The celebrations will be concerned not only with the English Prayer Book in its original, but also as it has been known, used and loved by generations of English-speaking peoples throughout the world. The climax will be reached in May when special services will be held, both in Westminster Abbey and in York Minster.

Fashion Note From Britain

Although there will be no large-scale fashion parades at this year's British Industries Fair (Earls Court and Olympia, London, and Castle Bromwich, Birmingham, May 2nd to May 13th) there will be a vast amount to interest from the fashion point of view. Textiles (at the Earls Court, London, section) will be the leading exhibits and new nylon tricot fabrics, described as revolutionary, will be on view, as well as the latest materials from the cotton, rayon and woollen mills of Britain. There will not be a fashion theatre as in other years, and the space thus saved will provide more room for exhibits.
